

Veterinary staff share pet insurance best practices, Part 5

Clinic: Aloha Veterinary Hospital

Staff Member: Roberta Jaime, Veterinary Client Concierge, and Marina Yamate, DVM

At Aloha Veterinary Hospital, our dedication to pets' well-being extends beyond our hospital doors. We proudly stand behind ASPCA Pet Insurance as a vital component of comprehensive pet care.

From the moment clients step into our practice, their pets' health is our top priority. We prioritize discussions about pet insurance during check-in, recognize the importance of proactive protection and ensure ASPCA Pet Insurance pamphlets are readily available throughout our hospital. These pamphlets serve as constant reminders of the value of comprehensive coverage. Our doctor takes it further by writing her recommendations directly onto these pamphlets during consultations. This way, when clients refer to their recommendations, they are reminded of the benefits of ASPCA Pet Insurance.

We've witnessed firsthand how financial constraints can lead to difficult decisions for pet owners. We discuss how ASPCA Pet Insurance helps with routine wellness care and provides crucial coverage for unexpected injuries and illnesses. With ASPCA Pet Insurance, pet owners can trust that they'll have the financial support they need to provide the best care for their pets without hesitation.

When participating in social events, we enthusiastically promote ASPCA Pet Insurance by prominently displaying their marketing materials. From branded brochures to pens, water bowls and other giveaways provided by ASPCA, we ensure pet owners know the benefits of securing pet insurance for their furry companions.

At Aloha Veterinary Hospital, we believe in providing exceptional care, but also in empowering pet owners to make informed decisions about their pets' health. Through our endorsement of ASPCA Pet Insurance and our active promotion of its benefits, we strive to ensure pet owners can access the financial support they need to provide the best possible care for their beloved pets.
