

These Are The Most Peaceful Beaches In America For A Relaxing Working Holiday, According to Data

Data Reveals America's Quietest Beach Destinations For Remote Work

Key Findings:

- New study identifies America's most tranquil beaches great for working remotely while on holiday
- South Manitou Island, Michigan leads, while in second-place is Roque Bluffs, Maine, and third-place is Enderts Beach, California
- Expert highlights how these secluded beaches offer the perfect blend of productivity and serenity, with reliable connectivity and minimal tourism

Remote holiday work is getting a serious upgrade as professionals swap home offices for beach views, proving you can absolutely crush that to-do list with sand between your toes.

“The rise of remote work has fundamentally changed how we view our office space,” says David Garcia, co-founder and CEO of ScoutLogic. “We're seeing professionals seek out peaceful destinations that offer both productivity and serenity—places with reliable connectivity minus the tourist crowds.”

To find America's most serene coastal offices outside of the office, the team at ScoutLogic analyzed Instagram posts, Google Maps, and Trip Advisor reviews across the nation's beaches, weighting reach factor to calculate a peaceful score. The ensuing data reveals the most peaceful beaches in the USA.

Table: The Top 10 Quietest Beaches In The US

Rank	Beach	State	No. of Instagram Posts	No. of Trip Advisor Reviews	No. of Google Map Reviews	Peaceful Score (1)

10	Bulls Island	South Carolina	1,500	343	25	98.840

Want the most peaceful beach in America? Head to South Manitou Island in Michigan, which scores an incredible 99.807 on the peaceful scale. Nestled in Lake Michigan's crystal-clear waters, this hidden paradise has only 1,000 Instagram posts of its dazzling beauty and 55 total reviews to its name. Talk about a perfect spot to craft a reply to those work emails in peace!

“South Manitou Island offers the ideal remote work setup,” explains David. “The lake views create a calming atmosphere that helps with focus and creativity.”

Looking for a runner-up? Maine's Roque Bluffs takes silver with an impressive 99.799 peaceful score. This Atlantic gem is clearly one of the coast's best-kept secrets—only 1,000 Instagram posts exist of its ocean vistas and peaceful work spots. Perfect for when you want your spreadsheets served with a side of serenity.

David says, “Roque Bluffs combines ocean breeze with perfect isolation. It's exactly what remote workers need for productive deep work sessions.”

Claiming the bronze medal, Enderts Beach turns solitude into an art form. This Californian gem scored a whopping 99.775 on the peace scale, with just 500 brave souls sharing their finds on Instagram. Think private office with a Pacific Ocean soundtrack and crystalline waves for company.

“The minimal digital footprint of Enderts Beach speaks volumes,” Garcia notes. “Fewer visitors means more peace for focused work and relaxation time.”

David Garcia, co-founder and CEO of ScoutLogic, commented:

“When chosen thoughtfully, these peaceful beaches can boost both productivity and wellbeing for remote workers. The key is treating it as a proper work arrangement—ensuring reliable internet, setting clear boundaries between work and relaxation time, and choosing locations that offer genuine tranquility.

“What we're seeing is that a well-planned working holiday isn't just a perk—it's a strategic way to improve focus, creativity, and job satisfaction. The traditional office setup is no longer the only path to productivity, and these serene coastal spots prove that sometimes the best work happens where the Wi-Fi meets the waves.”

Further insights from the study:

- The most peaceful beaches globally are Honopu Beach (Hawaii), Flamands Beach (St. Barts), and Tokeh Beach (Sierra Leone)

Methodology

To identify the most peaceful beaches in the USA, data was gathered from several sources in January 2025 using the following methods:

- Instagram Searches: The number of posts with beach-related hashtags was checked on Instagram. Fewer posts indicate fewer visitors, suggesting a more peaceful beach.
- TripAdvisor Reviews: The number of reviews for each beach was collected from TripAdvisor. More reviews suggest higher visitor numbers, leading to a less peaceful atmosphere.
- Google Map Reviews: Reviews were also analyzed on Google Maps. A higher number of reviews indicates more visitors and less peace.

The Peaceful Score was calculated by normalizing the three indicators and assigning these weights:

- Instagram Search: 20% weight, as hashtag posts can overlap with other locations.
- TripAdvisor Reviews: 40% weight, as reviews show the actual number of visitors to the beach.
- Google Maps Reviews: 40% weight, reflecting real-world beach visitation.

Four sources were used:

- U.S. News
- TripAdvisor
- Travel + Leisure
- Sky Aviation Holdings.
